Instructions for Application for Administrative Support Personnel Access.

Administrative Support credentials are available to any brokerage and through the broker to agents authorized to have personal administrative assistants. ARMLS rules provide a formula to calculate the number of admin credentials that a brokerage can have at no charge. Firms are allowed one admin code for each 30 agents, but at least one for each office regardless of size. Agent counts can be aggregated across the firm for those companies that centralize their administrative and support functions. Upon receipt of an application, ARMLS staff will determine if the credentials are within or in excess of the allocation determined by the formula and advise the Participant (Broker or Manager) if the credential being applied for is one that would incur a charge. Applications will be processed as soon as possible after receipt, but should not take longer than five business days.

Guidelines for completing the application:

1. On the applications form, the name of the administrative person, along with contact information should be entered in the first section where it says Support Applicant Name.
2. If the admin will work for an agent, enter the agent's name and ID in the next section where it says Sponsoring Agent Name. If not, leave this section blank.
3. Enter the name of the Participant (Broker) for the office where the admin will be assigned. Enter the OFFICE ID Code next to Participant's name.
4. Under Applicant Role, check the appropriate box (for personal or company admin)
5. Under Broker Load Level, check the box indicating the degree of listing maintenance access this person will have. Agent Level access would apply to a personal assistant for an agent. Office Level access would allow the admin to edit listings within the office assigned. Company Level access allows the admin to edit listings for any office or any agent within the company.
6. The Bill ID to entry is used if the admin credential is in excess of those allocated in the formula above. If so, indicate who should ARMLS bill for this access – the administrative person him/herself, the Agent for whom that admin is working, or the Participant/Broker for whom the admin is working.
7. The application must be signed by the applicant, attesting to the requirements of the credentials, and by the Participant/Broker authorizing this applicant to have such access privileges applied for.
8. Mail or fax the application to the address/number at the bottom of the application.
